Über die Messe

With the expansion of the international market, what was already a successful event is now a much more prestigious international event. Renewed and strengthened as the largest trade show in Latin America, Feiplastic is one of the top trade shows in the plastics industry for introducing trends, showcasing launches and generating networking. An event that is transforming the market by promoting economic and technologic development in the industry, gathering the most important brands and attracting the main buyers in Brazil and worldwide, as a major focus for generating business in the plastics production chain.
