Über die Messe

BuildTech Asia is the region's leading trade show for the building and construction industry that addresses the challenges of building and construction across different vertical industries such as power generation, pharmaceutical, petrochemical and manufacturing. Dedicated to make a difference to the future of the industry, this 3-day trade event provides a platform for business professionals to showcase, share, learn and succeed in the regional built sector. Organised by Sphere Exhibits and hosted by the Building and Construction Authority of Singapore, BuildTech Asia aims to help companies in their development and growth process as they cope with the demands of an evolving industry facing a tightening of foreign workers supply and a constant elevation of acceptable standards.
